“I am impressed with the high caliber of Queens students. It’s hard to make hiring decisions because there are so many excellent candidates. Queens prepares these students well and it shows.”

—Dr. Iain McKillop, Director of Research, Carolinas HealthCare System

FORMER STUDENTS. CURRENT SUCCESS STORIES.

Recent graduates paving the way.

JOEY ALBRIGHT '16

Nursing Major, Blair College of Health
Clinical Nurse (ER) at Carolinas HealthCare System

"Nursing is what I love to do—it is my spark. It's the art of caring for another in the purest form, and it makes me feel alive. I plan to return to Queens for my MSN in Nursing after I have established myself as a practicing critical care nurse."

MIOSHA JOHNSON '16

Elementary Education Major, Cato School of Education
6th Grade Social Studies Teacher at Nations Ford Elementary

"I was given the opportunity to grow both as a student and a person. My four years were transformative. At Queens, I was able to build a foundation for success."

SYDNEY DISHMAN '16

Biology Major, College of Arts and Sciences
MD Candidate at Georgetown University School of Medicine

"I can't believe the incredible support I received in the form of resources, advice and opportunities. I absolutely could not have become the person I am today without Queens."

HUONG TRINH '16

English Literature, Arts Leadership & Administration Double Major, College of Arts and Sciences
Gallery Programs Associate at Bechtler Museum of Modern Art

"With help and support from my professors, I was able to do and learn so much. Being able to study abroad in Ireland, to attend the American Writers & Writing Programs Conference in Bookfair, and participate in a panel with Sir Salman Rushdie are experiences that changed my life."

CAMPBELL CORDER '16

Finance Major, McColl School of Business Analyst at Ally Financial

"Queens really pushes you to have multiple internships, and it's for a good reason. I found a place here at Ally that I really didn't want to leave."

HIWOT HAILU '16

Communication Major, Knight School of Communication
Digital Producer at NBC Charlotte (WCNC-TV)

"My internship experience completely changed my college experience. Nothing can beat the hands-on learning, professional development, and all the connections that I made during my 15 weeks in D.C. through The Washington Center."

Data are gathered from post-graduation surveys, Internet sources such as LinkedIn, faculty and staff. The knowledge rate is calculated using data collected from these various sources. The Class of 2016 has an 89% knowledge rate.
