

Two Tenure Track Positions in Psychology

SUMMARY: Queens University of Charlotte invites applications for two tenure-track positions in Psychology with the rank of assistant professor beginning fall 2010.

Qualified candidates will have a doctoral degree in counseling or clinical psychology or the equivalent from an APA approved program, and will be qualified for licensure as a Licensed Practicing Psychologist in North Carolina.

The successful candidate will have demonstrated excellence in teaching and must be able to contribute to the undergraduate and graduate curricula, supervise trainees, and participate in research activities.

We encourage qualified applicants from APA-accredited programs and internships of all specializations to apply, although we are particularly interested in applicants with interests in (1) child development and psychoeducational assessment, and (2) psychological assessment and health-related issues.

The successful candidate will demonstrate the following:

- ability to connect with students at all levels of proficiency
- passion for undergraduate education for both traditional and adult students
- knowledge of pedagogical developments
- ability to forge community outreach through the classroom
- interest in student/faculty research
- qualifications to teach in the Core Program for the Liberal Arts
- qualifications to participate in the John Belk International Program

The university is especially interested in qualified candidates who can contribute, through their research, teaching, and/or service, to the diversity and excellence of the academic community. Queens is an equal opportunity employer and encourages applications from underrepresented groups including minorities, women, and persons with disabilities.
