

Tenure Track Assistant Professor of Communication

SUMMARY: Queens University of Charlotte's new School of Communication invites applications for a tenure track position in communication to begin August 2010.

Applicants for this assistant professor position should possess a Ph.D. in communication and should take a broad approach to its study within a liberal arts context. We are seeking a communication generalist with an emphasis in new media studies, organizational and strategic communication, or other related areas.

The successful candidate will demonstrate:

- teaching excellence
- commitment to a liberal arts education
- an ability to connect with students at all levels of proficiency
- a passion for undergraduate education for both traditional and adult students
- an ability to make connections across disciplines

This position carries a 4/4 teaching load with heavy involvement in the core communication curriculum in both day and evening programs, and some graduate teaching.

Queens is an equal opportunity employer and encourages applications from underrepresented groups including minorities, women, and persons with disabilities. The university is especially interested in qualified candidates who can contribute, through their research, teaching, and/or service, to the diversity and excellence of the academic community.

APPLICATION PROCESS:

Candidates should submit via e-mail to hr@queens.edu all of the following:

- 1) a letter of interest,
- 2) current resume or curriculum vitae,
- 3) salary requirements or history, AND
- 4) contact information on three references.

Be sure to include YOUR NAME and "Ref: SOC-748" in your email subject line.

Only candidates who best match requirements of job will be contacted. The position will be removed from the website once an offer is extended and accepted. Due to limited staff resources, phone calls cannot be accepted or returned.
