

GRAPHIC DESIGN

The Graphic Design program at Queens University is focused on developing concept-driven, creative thinkers who can deliver powerful visual content in both print and digital, static, and interactive. Our curriculum provides a solid foundation in fundamental design principles that can be applied to any medium. Housed in the Department of Art, Design and Music in the newly renovated Gambrell Center, we firmly believe in civic engagement, interdisciplinary thinking, and cross-collaboration. With a comprehensive education that explores and encourages both historical precedence and experimentation, we are pushing the envelope to create multimedia dynamic designs that examine, understand, and define our visual environments.

PERKS OF BEING A GRAPHIC DESIGN MAJOR

▶▶ Dynamic Location

With more than 50 marketing and advertising agencies, Charlotte is a great place to study design. Our professors are well-connected in the Charlotte design community and beyond, opening ample opportunities for meaningful internships and job prospects.

▶▶ Faculty Active Expertise

Our professors produce design work that reaches local, national, and international audiences. Our small class sizes encourage camaraderie among students and provide a close-knit community of support.

▶▶ Global Emphasis

Queens has a robust study abroad program that will give you the opportunity to explore design with your class around the world.
