

QUEENS
McCULL SCHOOL of BUSINESS

LEADERSHIP INITIATIVES

LEADERSHIP DEVELOPMENT

Cornerstone of the McColl School Experience

Our approach is designed to help each student enhance his or her leadership philosophy and style. Our innovative curriculum consists of the only Masters of Science in Organization Development program in the Southeast, a new flexible Masters in Business Administration program and an innovative undergraduate curriculum. The thirst for entrepreneurship, innovation, change management and high-integrity leadership has never been greater. The McColl School of Business develops students into the next generation of leaders through a dynamic, practical, integrative learning environment where the classroom meets the real world.

CONNECTION TO THE BUSINESS COMMUNITY

Above all else, the McColl School's deep connections and active, well-respected presence in the local corporate community distinguish it from its peers. The McColl School has produced thousands of leaders who graduated well-prepared to make valuable contributions in the workplace and in the world around them.

“The McColl School emphasizes not only business fundamentals, but also leadership and succeeding as a team.”

-Jeff Brown MBA '03, CEO, Ally Financial

WORLD-RENOWN FOR A REASON

AACSB ACCREDITED

Less than 5% of business schools carry this distinction

Home to prominent leadership faculty who have been published in 85 peer reviewed journal publications and have PUBLISHED 5 BOOKS in the past 5 years

RANKINGS

#5 in the world and placed in Tier One in the North American MBA rankings by CEO Magazine (2017)

OUR FOCUS

The McColl School defines leadership by the 3 C's:

Character

Effective leaders demonstrate self-awareness, self-confidence, the capability to interact effectively with others, think creatively and learn from experience. The development of this type of ethical leadership permeates throughout the McColl School curriculum.

Competence

Rigorous and innovative curriculum based on real-world experience presented by excellent faculty. Focusing on business acumen and interpersonal competence students gain skills to effectively execute business functions and manage individuals, relationships and teams to accomplish organizational goals.

Commitment to Community

Students live the Queens motto "Not to be served, but to serve." Concern for the success of the surrounding community, choosing to act to improve circumstances, and acknowledging a balance between individual goals and the common good allows students to connect and serve their community.

Leadership

Examine leadership not only in theory but in practice. What is your vision for yourself as a leader, what values define your leadership style?

Self-Awareness

Through a combination of personality/psychometric testing and a custom 360 evaluation that will empower you with knowledge of your strengths, weaknesses and opportunities for development.

BB&T Leaders in Action Lecture Series

Interaction with distinguished leaders from diverse industries, backgrounds and leadership styles in a candid and inspiring forum.

Executive Coaching Program

Spend 4-6 sessions with one of more than 60 executive and professional coaches who volunteer their services to our students.

Mentor Program

Build relationships and expand your contacts in the Charlotte business community.

Experiential Learning

Students draw on the skills of faculty and fellow students to acquire strategic tools to immediately apply at work. Diverse perspectives push students to evaluate their beliefs and be better prepared to face challenges in the workplace.

Community Leadership Project

Provides hands on participation and immersion with local/regional non-profits and community issues. Active participation in the community helps develop important leadership skills.

Executives in Residence

High-level executives bring the realities of business leadership to life for our students in small group discussions.

OUR TEAM

Jane Williams, M.S.
Assistant Director & Program Manager

John L. Bennett, Ph.D., PCC, BCC
Professor, Business & Behavioral Science
Wayland H. Cato, Jr. Chair of Leadership

Dawn Chanland, Ph.D.
Associate Professor of Management

Gregory Berka, Ph.D.
Associate Professor of Organization
Behavior & Management

For additional information, please contact:

William Sparks, Ph.D.
Director
Dennis Thompson Chair &
Professor of Leadership

704.337.2342

sparksw@queens.edu

www.queens.edu

@QueensUniv

Queens University of Charlotte

@QueensUniv

queens.edu